Did you know? (what are internists and what are they actually doing)

- Internists are experts in diagnosing, treating and caring for adult patients.
- They often serve as medical consultants to physicians in other specialties.
- In some countries internists may specialize in general primary care of adults (for instance in Switzerland); they can also take additional training and "subspecialize" in such areas as endocrinology, hematology/oncology, immunology. Cardiology, pulmonology, gastroenterology and rheumatology usually are independent subspecialties.
- What is internal medicine? (European definition):
The specialty of internal medicine covers a wide range of conditions affecting the internal organs of the body. Although some diseases specifically affect individual organs, the majority of common diseases may affect many internal organs of the body. The internist must then be trained to recognise and manage a broad range of diseases and, with the aging population, many patients with chronic and multiple disorders.

EFIM Newsletters 2022 - 2023

Prof. Dror Dicker
EFIM President

Dear EFIM Colleagues,
Welcome to the Spring Newsletter,
While the restrictions are gradually easing all over Europe and we are eager to meet face to face, we have been stricken by another tragedy, deeply saddened by the current situation in Ukraine. We stand together against war, for peace as a federation that brings societies and people together to advance healthcare.

Prof. Dror Dicker
EFIM President

With the end of the year approaching, it is with great pleasure to see many new initiatives of EFIM being started and developed. It has been a very busy and productive year for EFIM and we couldn't have done it without the support of all national societies members, EFIM Working Groups and Subcommittees, EFIM Executive Committee, Young Internists, EFIM Journals, EFIM Academy and all volunteers actively participating and contributing to the success of EFIM.

M A L A G A

Welcome to our Autumn newsletter!
September and October have been extremely busy at EFIM Headquarters as we've been working on several new projects, the scientific program of ECIM 2022, the fellowship program and the launch of EFIM Academy. We held our first face to face meeting in Brussels with the Executive Committee and organised the 6th EFIM Day virtually. We were glad to have most of our members present during the 6th EFIM Day to discuss the issues each country is currently facing.

Prof. Dror Dicker
EFIM President

Dear Colleagues,
Closing out the winter season, the Executive Committee, and EFIM Secretariat have been very busy finalising the congress programme for the 21st European Congress of Internal Medicine to take place in Athens. We have more than 1200 registrations received. Please check the congress programme for more information and register now. We are expecting to welcome more than 1500 physicians in Athens.

This historic district at the foot of the Acropolis is also known as the "Neighborhood of the Gods". Plaka is a great place to wander around and maybe even see an archaeological dig!

My vision of EFIM's future tasks

My vision of EFIM's future tasks

Inside

- Strengthen the senior physician (the transparent) layer:
 - By acknowledging the importance of our senior physicians and building a special group of interests.
 - Advance Courses for senior physician.
 - Honorary Fellow.

My vision of EFIM's future tasks

Inside

- Strengthen ECIM by:

- Increasing the number of participants, (our nurses ?)
- Promoting major study outcome publication.
- Guidelines Publication.

My vision of EFIM's future tasks

Inside

- Introducing new and up-to-date working groups:
 - Internal medicine guidelines
 - Digitalization in medicine: How can we prepare internal medicine for future innovations in medicine?
 - Internal medicine out of hospitals. Where do we stand?

My vision of EFIM's future tasks

Inside

- strengthening research

- Establishing a EFIM network of multi-center studies.

My vision of EFIM's future tasks Outside

- Promote our importance and influence in European medicine by:
 - Cooperation with other professional societies.
 - Collaboration with stakeholders (Ministries of Health, pharmaceutical companies, WHO).
 - Public relations

I acknowledge the great responsibility and high demand of the role of EFIM president, and humbly believe that I can contribute, from my experience, to advance EFIM to an even better future.

I really hope that I fulfilled successfully my mission
